

The University of Memphis

Focus Areas of the University Libraries

Mission Statement

The University Libraries provides leadership in the access to and management of information services and resources to support teaching, learning, and research for the University of Memphis community.

Focus Areas

To accomplish the overall mission of the University Libraries, resources and energy will be focused in the following areas.

1. Build, preserve, and support collections that meet the needs of present and future users.
2. Develop, explore, and implement new information technologies and resources.
3. Develop and implement strategies that maximize the effectiveness of the integrated library system (ILS).
4. Develop, promote, and deliver instructional services and resources to meet changing user needs.
5. Invest in library personnel to enhance their abilities to provide library services and resources.
6. Collaborate with other units of the University, the urban community, the professional community, the region, or the nation to improve access to information resources.
7. Develop and implement marketing and development plans that will enhance the visibility and image and increase the resource base of the University Libraries.
